i enjoy foresters symbolism and use of allegory in hiss novels but I don't particulary like his style of writing!	May 8th 2000 02:01:45 AM
a genius child	May 7th 2000 06:57:36 PM
I think he has an uncanny way about describing, social settings and the intricate workings of the mind, of his characters.	May 4th 2000 12:23:07 PM
His use of flat and round characters is nice	May 3rd 2000 12:49:58 PM
Of course, he was also a homosexual. But what does that have to do with being a great or terrible novelist?	Apr 30th 2000 01:52:33 PM
I really I'm not a fan of his work I think that he SUCKS!	Apr 25th 2000 04:14:42 AM
He was probably not homosexual really!	Apr 24th 2000 05:55:53 AM
I'VE JUST READ "A ROOM WITH A VIEW" AND I ENJOYED IT VERY MUCH...I HOPE TO FIND THE TIME TO READ MORE OF HIS WORKS : )	Apr 22nd 2000 08:06:15 AM
What a retarded poll? Who cares if he's homosexual? How does this fit in with the adjectives great , terrible and modernist?	Apr 21st 2000 10:23:17 PM
who the hell cares if he was gay are not? this is not the issue here. he is a great novelist, and that was his contribution to literature!	Apr 21st 2000 11:43:33 AM

who the hell cares ig he was gay are not?	Apr 21st 2000 11:41:33 AM
God hates fags	Apr 18th 2000 05:44:15 PM
I found E.M.Forster's novel much better than the film version and would reccommend anyone to read it, especially for a-level literature.	Apr 10th 2000 06:18:45 PM
I love 'a room with a view'	Apr 8th 2000 08:13:47 PM
This is one of the most comprehensive websights I have seen on this auther. Wonderful job!	Apr 5th 2000 06:06:05 PM
We really enjoyed studying Room with a View for A Level	Apr 5th 2000 02:54:52 PM
He is good no doubt but can be terribly dull	Apr 4th 2000 05:01:29 PM
